Passing a final course exam designed by the NICC faculty

A limited number of NICC courses College faculty may offer cumulative exams or assessments for students to pass out of program courses. Students achieving a C- or above on the exam will receive credit for the course.

- Examinations must be completed and passed prior to or during the first week of the semester in which the credit is requested to be transcripted.
- Credit by examination is recorded as a “T” on your transcript, and not computed in your GPA.
- You are required to pay 50% course tuition and $13.00 per credit student fees for credit granted by course examination.

For more information on taking an exam or assessment to pass out of program courses, contact your program dean or faculty.
